Taking your show on the road

Corporate tours, not rock concerts

CAVCOMM's Staging and Logistics Group is ready to help you stage your next corporate events or tour. Tours, event and road shows have been a mainstay of our business since 1994.

The typical staging company is set up for rock concerts and does meetings and presentations only as an afterthought.

We take a different approach. Our specialty is corporate presentations with audiences from 50 to 2,000 people. We provide planning services, rental equipment, warehousing, transportation, setup, system operation and tear down.

We can work in virtually any venue, including hotels, convention centers, banquet rooms, movie theaters and, of course, your own facilities.

We'll give your event the focus and attention it needs—every time.

Efficiencies and savings

Poorly planned tours can be expensive. We regularly save our clients thousands of dollars by warehousing and maintaining everything they need for their events and road shows.

We take care of your presentation equipment, computers, signage, marketing collateral, mobile devices, registration systems and more—everything and anything you'll need for your event.

The savings on shipping costs alone can be huge, but the biggest value is that your presenters can walk into each venue with nothing but their notes.

We take care of everything else—every time.

Scaled to your needs

Whether you need help with a single event or a nationwide road show, we can help.

Our largest tour so far was for Humana during the summer of 2006. We put 65 teams in the field, each with their own equipment setup and their own truck. We helped the company stage 800 presentations in a three-week period.

A 10 to 50 event tour is more typical. For the Microsoft Vista and Office launch in 2007, we put five teams on the road. Each had a 53' semi-truck loaded with the hardware and show materials needed to stage 59 presentations over a six week period.

Whatever the size of your event, we can help—every time.
